Program acknowledgment and disclaimer:

By signing this application, I am voluntarily acknowledging my desire to participate in the Flyfisher's Leadership Institute Executive Retreat Series, (FLIERS) with necessary travel to and from all locations associated with the program's delivery, including all airports, landing-strips, lodges, lakes, and streams. I recognize and acknowledge the hazards inherent in the sport of wilderness fly fishing, including (but not limited to) bush air travel, small boat travel, inclement weather, cold-water, swift-water wading conditions, wildlife hazards, and general outdoor/wilderness hazards. I further recognize and acknowledge that primary assumption of liability for lodge-based operations, to include air transport, boat transport, guided fishing services, and housekeeping/meal services, lies solely within the venue lodge and their parent company. I further recognize that any risks associated with participation in the FLIERS program applies expressly to the delivery of evening presentation and discussion content, with no component of liability attaching to any other activities participated in by program attendees.

I further pledge to respect the privacy of my fellow FLIERS participants, recognizing that optimal interaction and discussion will result when attendees feel free to share the experiences and issues that frame their greatest challenges. For all participants, "What's said at the lodge will stay at the lodge," and attendees shall refrain from subsequently referencing other's experiences or plans in any manner or forum, without first obtaining the express consent and approval of those involved.
